

A New Wishard With No Tax Increase

1 Wishard provides high quality care to everyone

- When a paint truck burst into flames on I-465, eight of the painters caught in an inferno were taken to Wishard. All eight survived.
- When Officer Jason Fishburn was shot in the head in the line of duty, he was taken to Wishard, where doctors miraculously saved his life.
- Wishard provides access to all including people who are seniors, poor, uninsured or vulnerable.

2 Wishard trains our doctors and nurses

- The IU School of Medicine partners with Wishard to train new doctors in the latest life-saving care techniques and procedures.
- Wishard partners with more than 40 academic institutions and programs including Indiana University, Purdue University, Ivy Tech Community College, University of Indianapolis, Butler University and Marian College to train tomorrow's doctors, nurses, pharmacists and health professionals.

3 Wishard is working for Marion County

- As one of the region's largest employers, Wishard provides more than 4,000 jobs.
- Organization-wide Wishard generates more than $1.2 billion in economic output.

4 To continue providing quality care, Wishard needs new facilities

- Wishard Hospital operates at 98 percent of its capacity and has the busiest emergency room in the state.
- Renovating Wishard's aging facilities is not a viable cure for its many challenges. It will cost $53 million each year the project is delayed. Without new facilities, Wishard will have to close its doors.
- Precious seconds may be lost transporting Wishard patients as far as three football fields away to receive life-saving care, often in rooms too small for modern medical equipment.

5 A new Wishard can be built with no tax increase

- The Indianapolis Business Journal, the Greater Indianapolis Progress Committee and Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce have studied the issue and agree a new Wishard can be built with no tax increase.
- Wishard has already saved $150 million to fund the project.
- Wishard has the revenue to pay off the bond.
- By building a new Wishard now, millions of dollars will be saved by avoiding costly maintenance.
